This networking session for Colleges and Universities provides a follow up to the well attended sessions over the last few years for colleges developing peace and conflict related programming. Last year, more than 51 faculty, staff, and administrators from 38 colleges and universities across the U.S. and around the globe met to share what types of programs, degrees, certificates, and other projects and services they are developing at their respective institutions in peace and conflict studies. It also provided an introduction for potential collaboration and exchange. This event is co-sponsored by George Mason University.
